Chapter 1 by Story Wars

My great Grandmother used to tell me about the ocean. How it was just water for miles and miles. Always moving somehow some way, but we dont have that anymore. She would show me pictures that she had of these girls and guys just on the beach there wasnt a reason it was just for fun. we have stuff like that but its not the same. There is no water, no sand, no fun, no colorful attire.

This is our world now, everything is man made in including our atmosphere, our air,trees,water. It isnt real anymore. now that the rich and famous lived on mars were barley holding on anymore but im going to change that. My name is Zandra im going to change our fate.
